GREEN LIGHT FOR NEW SCHOOL

STAR GAZE

"If you don't want your animals, for heaven's sake, ring me," said Bob Heyen. Bob, Altona's ranger has been shooting a lot of injured stock and looking after dumped cats and dogs recently. He will call and pick them up at your house. All you have to do is ring 398 2244.

After the "Where have all the flowers gone," par in a recent Star Gaze, we found pretty 19-year-old Bev Walker, who features on our cover this week. Recent cover girls on the Star have been approached for the Miss Australia quest. So much for Altona knockers. Eh.

We hope that one of Altona's nicest businesswomen, Mrs. Eva Merrills, proprietress of Railway Street's Eve Gwendoline Frock Salon, has every success with her new venture.

Two statements made at Altona Council this week rival each other for the Star's Statement of the Week Award. Town Clerk, Mr. Waters, asked councillors if they'd seen his glasses. He was wearing them! The mayor gaffed earlier, when he announced after supper, "The councillors will now re-adjoin to the meeting."

A WESTGATE PUBLICATION

The Education Department announced this week that it intends to open a new high school at Paisley this year.

Temporary buildings will be located on Department land in Gilligan Road and Windsor Crescent, Altona North.

The assistant director of secondary education, Mr. Jack Ford, said it was hoped that works on this permanent school would begin by this time next year.

He said that initially the school would cater for about 100 students from Altona North, Newport, Williamstown, relieving the intake numbers he could expect 180 new enrolments next year, opposed to 298 in 1968.

At the moment the Education Department is negotiating with the SEC for the purchase of the old briquette depot east of Mills Road, Altona North.

Councillor Pat Lynch applauded the action of the Department.

He said that a school in the area was imperative, and that both the principals of high schools and technical schools in Altona had supported his belief.

He has held several conferences at the Civic Offices with local headmasters and teachers about accommodation problems.

He said that the Altona North State School and the Altona East State School presently accommodated nearly 2000 children.

The headmaster of the Altona North High School, Mr. Roy Roberts, said his school could not have coped with the increase.

He said with Paisley

Pretty young Bev Walker, of Romawi Street, posed for our cameraman Mick Rainer on the seawall.

Bev, who works for the Altona Council, likes skiing on both water and snow in her spare time. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Walker.

HE'S TOP OF THE MAST

Apprentice Shipwright, Wayne Mears of Rymill Court, Altona North will receive a silver medallion award during Apprenticeship Week.

His award, made by the Apprenticeship Commission, is for the outstanding apprentice shipwright of the year. Wayne works at the H.M.A. Naval Dockyards and attends Footscray Institute of Technology.

The award is based on scholarship, craftsmanship and general attitude to training both in trade school and at work.

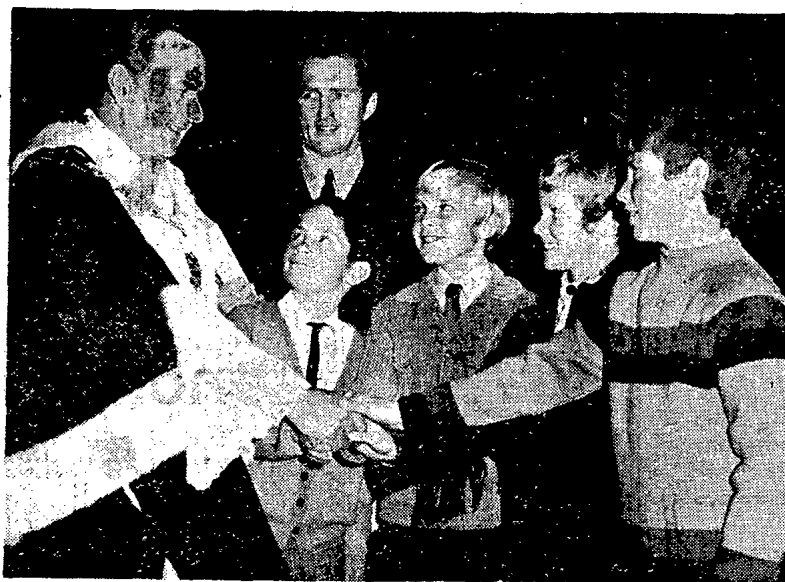

Apprenticeship week starts on August 1.

Window Broken

Mr. H. Pierre of 27 the Esplanade had his window broken this week.

An unknown person threw a rotten potato through it.

Altona police are investigating.

The Mayor, Cr. Doug Grant, presented eight junior swimmers from Altona State School with certificates of merit at the last council meeting.

Pictured above are (from left): Wayne Sweeney, David Leroy, Jamie Trickle and Stephen Douglas.

Their coach Mr. Leon Sweeney looks on.

The boys won the Victorian Primary School 4 x 50 metres freestyle championship.

The girls presented with trophies were Kerri Findlay, Andrea Willis, Maree White and Susan Findlay.

They won the Victorian girls' freestyle championship.

Historical meeting

The Altona Historical Society will hold its annual meeting on August 18, at 8 p.m.

Nominations for office bearers should be handed to the secretary, Mr. Alan J. Clark, as soon as possible.

The meeting will be followed by the usual monthly meeting. Visitors are welcome.

The first was from Mrs. Linda Oakes of the Altona Spastic Aid Committee, who thanked ed the council for their moral and financial support.

In part the letter read: "It's nice to know spastic children and adults have such good and sincere friends who not only believe in the Golden Rule, Do unto Others, but practise it as well."

The second was from the Williamstown and Newport District Cycling Club, who thanked the council for their help in running the Altona Traders 60, road race.

They specifically thanked councillors Grant, Burns and Crofts, who acted in an official capacity during the race.

The school's teacher-librarian Mrs. Hescht left this week on confinement leave.

The recent Mothers' Club Bazaar raised a total of $650 and a net total of $550.

The principal of the school, Mr. Treyveaud, visited Bright Higher Elementary School recently and chaired a seminar.

Principal of the school is Mr. Max Kidd, well known in Altona and a former assistant headmaster at Altona Primary.

MONEY STOLEN FROM PURSE

Police are looking for thieves who broke into a North Altona home last week and stole $8 from a purse in a kitchen drawer.

The thieves entered through an unlocked bathroom window. Footscray CIB is investigating.

RESEARCH ON YOUTH PLAN

Altona Council will consider $1000 survey by the Victorian Association of Youth Clubs in the near future.

The survey suggestion was made by Mr. E. Hamilton-Smith, development officer of the Youth Service's Planning Division of the association, at a recent general purposes meeting.

In welcoming Mr. Hamilton-Smith the chairman, Cr. P. J. Lynch, said that it was the aim of council to meet the needs of the young people.

He said Altona City has a high percentage of youth and was conscious of the need to assist this section of the community.

Mr. Hamilton-Smith said Altona has a special circumstance in that 41.4 per cent. of the population were European born.

Having regard to the high percentage he said that the Department of Immigration may provide a subsidy.

He said the initial survey of the needs would cost $1000 and a comprehensive survey, by trained interviewers between $5000 and $10,000.

He suggested that as a result of the report a committee be formed, backed by an Association member to develop youth facilities.

There were at least 500 courses every year for youth training. As a result of the meeting Mr. Hamilton-Smith will submit a detailed letter outlining his proposals.

FURTHER ACTION ON APC

Altona Council has instructed its legal officers to consider re-issuing show cause notices to Altona Petrochemical Company that were struck out at a recent court action.

Council's legal officers were asked to consider action on alleged infringements of the Health Act on July 2.

Council complimented its two Health officers and witnesses for their presentation of evidence at the recent action.

CLOTHES-LINE LARCENIES

Footscray CIB say there have been a series of clothes-line thefts in Altona.

Residents are warned to keep a close watch on their washing. The latest theft was a skin-diving suit, valued at $160 which belonged to a professional fisherman. It was left hanging on a clothes line in May Street.

Demolition Order

Altona City Council decided at its last meeting to ask that the owners of 1 Hatherley Grove, North Altona be asked to demolish their dwelling as a result of a recent fire.

Acting on the building surveyor's recommendations, a motion put by Cr. Burns, seconded by Cr. Grant asked that work on the demolition begin within seven days of the notice being received.

The owners of the property are Mr. and Mrs. H. Stubbs, of Churchill, in Gippsland.

Cement obstacle at Truganina

Altona Council has placed a cement obstacle at the entrance to Truganina Reserve to stop unauthorized vehicles from entering.

Vehicles were being driven into the Reserve to remove soil, it was alleged.

It was also alleged that chains and locks used to secure the reserve have been cut. The council is inspecting the fencing around the area.

FOOD SIGNS

Altona Council pointed out recently that it is now law that the owners of food premises display the proprietor's name on the front of shop premises, and on the driver's side of vehicles, in letters two inches high, reasonably proportionate breadth and contrasting color.

The new regulation (7A) of the 1955 Food Premises Act was passed on June 22, this year.

Application refused

The Altona Council asked the Melbourne Metropolitan Board of Works to consider the possibility of using part of the land around Cherry Lake for cricket.

The Altona Cricket Club asked the council recently to allocate land to replace that lost due to extensions at Seaholme State School. The application to the MMBW was refused as it was "contrary to the original concept" . . . of beautification . . . for passive recreational activities."

Sewerage

Only 43 out of 305 need to connect sewerage notices in the Altona West region have been returned to Altona Council.

Of these three affirmed that sewerage had been connected and the other 40 asked for an extension of time.

Val's Column

Hello Girls,

Green and plum colors have now been added to Coty Original Automatic Mascara range. Why stick with stark black, bold brown — you've changed your eye shadow coloring, aren't you now using greens and mauves? Be adventurous and move on to colored eye mascara to color, but flatter your eye makeup.

And think — a new larger brush to apply it with — new rich creamy texture — even gentle enough for false eyelashes.

Then a see-through case so you'll know when you're in need of a refill.

And! — what would you pay for a first class eye makeup remover? A brand new form of eye makeup remover, completely removes all traces of makeup from brows, lids and lashes, it is non-oily and does not irritate. Only $1.50 for a generous 2 oz. size for Coty's new non-oily eye makeup remover. That value!

It is about time you tried Clairor Instant Color Foam, girls. So easy to use — no mixing, no judging needed — only use the amount you wish — then keep till next you feel like a lift of color. Just one step — "foam in." A conditioning color foam. It won't drip or run — makes for perfect results. Highlighting your natural coloring to rid it of the winter blues. Contains no lighteners — or peroxide, so no damage can be done, no retouching at a later day. And it is good for your hair, because it conditions.

Don't spoil your winter fun, girls, by not caring for your very personal grooming.

Cyclax Confidence Roll on, a creamy lotion is for your daylong freshness feeling; or Confidence Liquid in a roll on applicator with anti-perspirant and deodorant properties for that long lasting protection.

If you feel you need extra care, use Extra-Action Confidence Anti-perspirant Deodorant.

What with winter balls, air conditioned rooms, etc. sleeveless frocks are in constant use — so must be your Bare Depilatory Cream and Depilatory Wax for sleeker legs, arms or face. No bristle stubble, hair is removed below, the skin line, retarded regrowth. Be totally beautiful.

Bye.

The best way to meet people

When Steven Moore came to live in Waters Drive, Seaholme three years ago, he didn't know a soul.

Mr. Moore, who came from the closely knit community of Euroa, 92 miles from Melbourne, was frankly lonely.

He loved the newness, the quietness of his home suburb, but hated its empty streets.

Mr. Moore, a gregarious young man joined the Altona Drama Group as soon as he heard about it and this led to roles at Williamstown Little Theatre.

He said: "If only people would realise what great fun it is to join an amateur theatre group."

"It's the best way to meet people. You get a lot of enjoyment out of rehearsing and learning about acting and you meet new people all the time."

"I have learned to appreciate people better and it started my social life here."

Mr. Moore, who was currently playing in "The Knack" has never had any acting lessons.

He says he is never nervous and learns his lines easily.

He will be remembered for his performance in "Black Comedy and White Lies," "Five Finger Exercise" and "Semi-Detached" with Williamstown Little Theatre.

Mr. Moore couldn't care less about the opinion of theatre critics.

He said: "After all, it's only one person's interpretation."

"The audience reaction is far more important. If they're happy, than I feel I did a good job."

He feels that theatre work has helped him in another way.

He said: "I used to have an arrogant manner, I irritated people."

"I tend to judge people by first impressions but I like to think I have a sense of humor."

Mr. Moore doesn't show a trace of an "arrogant manner" now. It's impossible to imagine he ever had it.

A keen gardener, Mr. Moore likes horse riding, water skiing and reading.

He relaxes by listening to classical music just before a performance.

He admires Shakespeare's plays, and hopes to play a role in one of them when he becomes more experienced.

He said: "My favorite role so far was in 'Ladies in Retirement.' I was the only male actor among six female ones."

Mr. Moore says he picks up some of the habits and mannerisms in the plays he appears in.

He said: "Lately while going about my own work I've been asking myself, would Tom do this?"

Mr. Moore stressed that you don't have to be an actor to join a theatre group.

He said: "There is much work to be done behind the scenes and you get a sense of accomplishment by helping in a production."

Jaycees' 10th anniversary

Williamstown Jaycees had a lively party at Talbot Hall to celebrate their 10th anniversary on July 16.

The 1961 Victorian Zone President of Jaycees, Mr. Keith Keir recalled that Footscray Junior Chamber of Commerce started Williamstown Jaycees.

He said: "I remember Williamstown for one reason — they were a tremendously enthusiastic bunch of fellows."

"Three or four years later they were still an enthusiastic bunch of blokes."

"In fact I've never met a chapter which kept its enthusiasm as long as Williamstown did."

Mr. Ross Lawson, Executive Vice-President of the Australian Jaycees presented Mr. Jeff Bird and Mr. Peter Lawler, both founder members with Jaycee International senatorship award — the highest recognition that Jaycees can offer.

Mr. Peter Lalor, former president (1967) talked about the authoritarian attitude which was displayed during the first three years the Jaycees was formed.

He said: "In 1966 Williamstown Jaycees had a re-think about what we were trying to do, about important issues."

"Now there is more individual involvement."

"We allow members to manoeuvre according to their conscience."

"Some of our members are involved in the pipeline controversy, others in the Altona pollution problem, while a number of them are interested in conservation and town planning."

"The emphasis is on individual commitment."

"We believe in freedom of opportunity to develop as our members see fit."

Former president

(1966) and Victorian Zone President Mr. Jeff Bird said the biggest problem facing the whole organisation is to keep it relevant to the community through the problems it tries to solve.

He said: "Our thinking will have to be updated."

"Even business organisations are now starting to recognise that people have self-realisation needs."

"In our organisation the individual is free to learn at his own pace."

"I would like to see more community involvement instead of community service."

"So far our objectives were rarely asked. We were obsessed by efficiency. What, why and how we were going to do it should matter as distinct from let's do it smartly."

Mr. Royce Pepin, Executive, Vice-President of J.C.I. and Australia's nominee for World President of Jaycees in 1972, said the great changes that occurred in our society recently gave cause for concern. He gave the population explosion as an example.

He said: "Unless we do something as individuals, our families will suffer."

"We have a responsibility towards the community."

"There are not enough health, educational and sports facilities."

"Currently over half the population is under 25. Youth is looking for change and we're not giving them the opportunity they hope for."

"One of our greatest tasks is to go between youth and their elders."

"We are a respected non-political, non-sectarian organisation and

NO CABARET IN PAVILION

Williamstown's beach dressing pavilion is 'out' as a possible building for an night club cabaret.

The Lands Department told the council this in a letter this week.

There was no statutory provision in the Lands Act which would permit such development, the department said.

Cr. P. T. Lalor said the council had only been trying to find out what uses the pavilion could be put to.

Mr. J. E. Morley, town clerk: "The department has only told us what the pavilion can't be used for, not what it can be used for."

Cr. L. R. Hoffman moved that the matter go before the next meeting of the council's public works committee.

THE CURTAIN RISES

by Thisbe

1947 started with a production of "Lady Killer" by the Melbourne Little Theatre.

Soon after, National Theatre produced "Storm in the Haven" by Ray Lawler, which was seen in May.

The following attraction was the Melbourne Conservatorium String Quartet and the Contemporary Dance Group directed by Margaret Fleay in June.

A month later, "Woman Bites Dog" produced by the New Theatre hit Williamstown.

The first play readings were staged in July '47. The three plays staged were "The Proposal", "The Strolling Clerk" and "Elizabeth Refuses".

Three days later, the National Theatre's play "Spring Time for Henry" starring Claude Thomas was seen.

This play caused the first "stir" in the theatre's history.

Advertised as a light comedy, it turned out to be quite risqué for the times and quite unsuitable for the children who attended it as a special birthday treat.

A programme of documentary films preceded the Gilbert and Sullivan Society's production of "Iolanthe" under the late Beatrice Oakley.

Mr. Trevor McKay created his first set for "They Came to a City" the first full length play reading, which ended the second year of the theatre.

1948 began with the National Theatre production of "Jupiter Laughs" by A. J. Cronin.

A member of the cast, June Jago will be remembered as the garrulous Australian tourist in the motion picture "The Captain's Table".

Alf Davidson, who was to be Little Theatre's first producer also appeared in that play.

H.M.S. Pinafore preceded another group of play readings, followed by "The Importance of Being Earnest", which was staged at Williamstown for the first time.

November 13, 1948 was a very important date for the theatre as it marked the staging of the first play produced. It was called a Williamstown Little Theatre Movement production.

Casting for "Wait Until Dark" will be held at the theatre, 2-4 Albert Street on Sunday, July 25 at 2 p.m. and visitors are welcome to attend.

COLUMN CHANGE GEARS.

"I used to be a screaming witch of a woman until I joined Gam-Anon last November," Joanne confessed to the Advertiser.

Joanne's husband is a compulsive gambler.

His particular illness is betting on horses. For compulsive gambling is an illness.

The man who is afflicted by this illness needs professional help to overcome his compulsion.

Joanne, a mother-of-two, felt powerless to help her husband.

She tried everything. First she pleaded, then she tried to reason with him and finally she just nagged, nagged, nagged.

Joanne said: "I couldn't help myself, although I knew that resentment doesn't do any good."

"I work full time, but my wages are not enough to support the family, let alone pay for my husband's gambling debts."

The threatening pile of debts which were forever increasing made Joanne's life a nightmare.

She said: "I was afraid to answer the door in case it was someone asking for money or wanting to repossess the furniture."

Coming to the Gam-Anon meeting for the first time was the start of a new way of life for Joanne.

She said: "Gam-Anon is a world wide fellowship of men and women who are husbands, wives, relatives or close friends of compulsive gamblers."

"We meet once a week to help each other with our enormous problem."

"Before I joined Gam-Anon my life was filled with unhappiness."

"I was tired of trying to hide my shame from friends and family."

"My health broke down and my children were also affected by the problem in our home."

"A lot of women must recognise my story as similar to their own."

"Gam-Anon will help. Their programme of group therapy works for me and after 14 years of living with a compulsive gambler, I can honestly say that I am once again starting to live a normal life."

"Gam-Anon is completely anonymous — we only know each other by our christian names and that's the way it will always remain."

"Our meeting rooms are held at the Alexander Clinic, 6 Alexander Parade in the city."

"Monday night's meeting is Gamblers Anonymous, for the gamblers themselves and they start at eight o'clock."

"Gam-Anon, the group for the wives and relatives of gamblers is held on Wednesday nights at eight o'clock."

Joanne, 35, is a pleasant softly spoken young woman with blue eyes and pretty, wavy hair.

She keeps her Williamstown home clean and neat and she has a warm smile for everyone.

Yet she claims that not so long ago she was a shrew.

She said: "Only the wife of a compulsive gambler could understand the emotional stress I had to live under."

"You can't imagine the despair of it."

"Compulsive gamblers are great 'con' artists, they'll borrow from relatives, friends and finance companies on some pretext."

"Even if they win on rare occasions, they lose every cent sooner or later. They can't stop gambling."

"They also get very adept at lying and hiding tote tickets."

"Most of them wouldn't admit they have a problem until they hit rock bottom."

"This happens when they're in the danger of losing something that's precious to them — their family or the last

● No matter how the dices fall, fortune never smiles at the compulsive gambler.

Sooner or later he loses everything he owns.

His downfall is "just one more game..."

shred of their self respect.

"Gamblers Anonymous could only help them if they ask for help."

"But the wife of a compulsive gambler needs help as badly as he does."

"She needs moral support, she needs to know there are other people in her predicament."

■■■■■■■■■■

"The group makes her take a long look at herself, it makes her realise how much her attitude counts."

"Without my problem I would never have thought of taking a look at myself. I think I became a better person through the group."

"It's important to go to meetings as often as possible, because if you drop out you find you slip back to your old way of thinking."

"The group members are of mixed religion, but we had a priest asking if he could sit in at one of the meetings. He wanted to gain insight about our problem."

"At the end of it, he said he felt he was in a room full of true Christians."

Joanne feels that the compulsive gambler is an even more pathetic figure than the alcoholic.

She said: "Alcoholics can hide their problem for a long time and it's impossible to detect them."

The drunk falls into a gutter and society tries to help him, he can be detected earlier.

"Quite often the first time you hear about a person having been a compulsive gambler is after he has committed suicide."

"The gambler could lose everything he owns in two days."

"For the alcoholic it could take longer than two years."

"The compulsive gambler has to be at every race meeting and he has to bet on every race."

Joanne says that compulsive gambling can be arrested for a time, but it cannot be cured.

She said: "Before I joined the group I hated my husband, I felt he didn't care about us, but I came to understand that his compulsion was an illness like cancer. He couldn't help himself."

"He is much happier now, not having the worries and pressures of being constantly in debt."

"Bringing the truth out into the open must have made him feel better."

Mr. Maurice Whitta, a Melbourne consulting psychologist has some interesting thoughts on the subject.

He said: "Suicide itself is a kind of gamble. Many attempted suicides are mere gestures, with more of a gamble in more serious tries."

■■■■■■■■■■

"They haven't quite made up their minds, they leave the decision to chance."

"You have something that looks like suicide in gambling. Russian roulette of course combines the two."

"Like sex offenders repeatedly reassuring courts that they will not offend again, the gamblers ignore past experience, ignore the fact that they have repeatedly lost."

"They're always sure that this time will be right."

"Most tend to be self destructive, a mild despair is behind a lot of gambling."

"They're often highly intelligent people, who are too tense to apply their wit by normal means."

"They want an income quickly."

"But compulsive gamblers have a good chance of recovery if they seek help."

MINISTER HITS OUT OVER HIGH RENTALS

Unless there is a radical change in the terms of the Commonwealth-State Housing Agreement, State housing authorities will be forced out of the field of low housing because of the inability of wage earners to meet its cost.

The Minister for Housing, Mr. Meagher, said this in a recent press release.

Mr. Meagher said: "Over the past two years, the interest rate charged by the Commonwealth to all States under the Commonwealth-State Housing Agreement has risen from 4½ per cent. to 6 per cent. The effect of this has been to substantially raise the economic rental of properties built by the Housing Commission.

"For example, the economic rental at 4½ per cent. of a house costing $11,000 would be $14.20 a week. At six per cent., the economic rental would be $17.50.

"If the house was being sold to the tenant on a 45-year term contract of sale, the monthly repayments would be 4½ per cent. would be $45.77.

"But at six per cent.,

the monthly repayment would increase to $64.51, an increase of $15.74 a month."

"To comply with the accepted principle that the cost of a home to wage earners should not involve him in payments exceeding one fifth of his weekly wage, these increased payments would prevent any one earning less than $87 a week from renting a house and anyone earning less than $81 a week from purchasing a house," he said.

"PROFIT"

He accused the Commonwealth Treasury of "making a usurious profit on the deal."

"When increasing costs of housing are added to the cost of money, it will be seen that the position rapidly is becoming intolerable," he said.

"One might well ask how inflation can be countered by so needlessly and arbitrarily increasing the cost of man's basic need, his shelter."

Mr. Meagher said the Housing Commission had cushioned the effect of the increase to some extent by averaging its rentals over the whole of its buildings.

TO BALANCE

This meant houses built many years ago at much lower costs and interest rates were being let at a higher rental than otherwise would be necessary so that the rental of more recently built homes would be reduced.

This policy had enabled the commission to keep its rents for three-bedroom houses and flats down to $12.80 a week.

These were the lowest rentals in Australia, Mr. Meagher said.

He added that the subsidisation of rentals for low income earners also was being met by other tenants, as well as the commission's revolving funds.

He said rebated rental cost $1.7 million annually and was increasing each year.

Mr. Meagher said increased rentals led to greater demands by wage earners for higher wages and added substantially to inflationary pressures.

Crash course in photography

A crash course in photography for travellers shortly will be conducted by the Victorian Council of Adult Education.

It will be designed specially for people who intend to travel within Australia or overseas and want to take good still photographs.

No technical knowledge of photography is required by students, who should have more interest than just casual snapshotting.

It is desirable for students to possess an adjustable still camera.

But potential travellers who need advice about the type of camera to buy and how to use it would benefit from the course, which is open to any adult.

Classes will be held in the CAE City Centre, 256 Flinders Street (opposite the station) on Saturday, August 28, from 12.45 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.

The fee for the course will be $4.

The class will be limited to 30 students, but if more are interested, another course might be arranged.

Anyone interested can obtain an enrolment form from the CAE office or telephone 63 4231.

Holden introduces it's HQ range

Significant engineering innovations and radically new styling are the keynotes of the new 'HQ' model range from GM-H.

Among specific design objectives are improved ride and handling and mechanical performance, and lower noise level.

This requires a number of radical engineering changes, including a partial front frame, coil springs all round, front mounted steering, improved brakes, wider track and other suspension and axle developments.

Six-cylinder engine displacements have been increased to 173 and 202 cu. in. The three V8s are virtually unchanged but have benefited from minor modifications.

Three of the cars are completely new model types, all aimed at different sections of the prestige market.

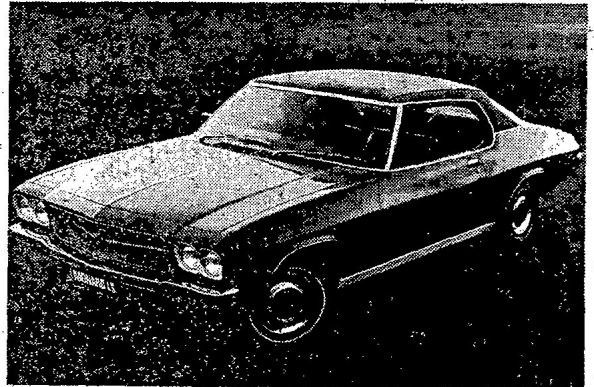

Top of the line Statesman and Statesman De Ville have a longer wheelbase than other sedans in the range giving them true limousine appearance with the ride and interior room to match.

Introduction of the Monaro LS luxury sports coupe diversifies the Monaro range and adds a new dimension to the Australian two-door market.

A fully integrated air-conditioning system offers big improvements in terms of performance, appearance and savings on space encroachment and is an option on all models.

TOP: The Monaro LS is a completely new concept in Australian coupe design and features among it's more luxurious touches, walnut instrument panel, deeply padded and pleated reclining bucket seats, full length arm rests. It is stylised with a black vinyl roof and standard dual headlights set on each side of the bold grille.

LOWER: The HQ wagon range, suitable for the family and sportsman has the same smooth styling of the sedans and in addition features the roominess of the wagon.

INSTANT DEVIONE — a la Denis Lupton!

It took 10 months' work and $6500 for Denis Lupton's Formula 2 Racing Car to go from the drawing board to the starting grid at Calder.

Denis — in partnership with his brother Graham — owns and runs the Auto Cross Service Station, in Barkly Street, Footscray, where most of the construction was carried out.

Called Devione, which Denis explains is French and means a deviation from an original idea, the car is sprayed in an eye-catching monza blue with a red stripe on the nose.

It represents a combination of 13 years of competition in motor sport for Denis, ranging from hill climbs and rallies right through to the present national meetings for Formula 2 racing cars.

Designed and constructed by Denis with the assistance of Graham and friend Ian Cooke, the car is built to Australian National Formula 2 specifications.

Powered by a full race tuned 1594 cc. twin cam engine, the car puts out a healthy 175 bhp at 8000 rpm. The power is turned through a 5-speed Hewland gear box to 14" wide rear Firestone racing tyres mounted on special race cast magnesium competition rims.

Stabilising air foils are also fitted front and rear for extra traction.

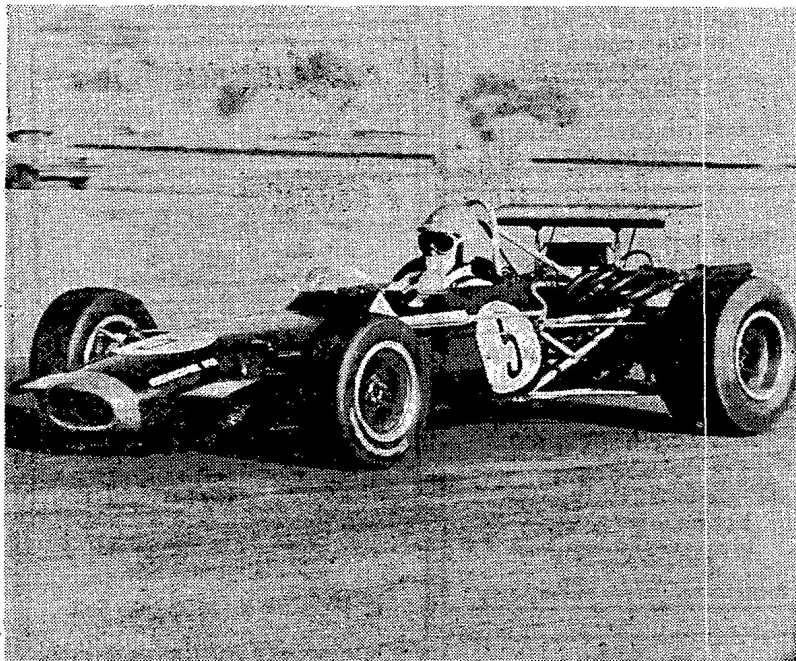

For those big stops at the end of the straights at Calder and Sandown, disc brakes are fitted all round.

Denis' most recent success in the car was at the last national meeting at Calder, where he finished in outright third placing against such other competitors as Maurie Quincey, Henk Woelders, Tony Stewart and John Walker. He is also running second outright in the Sandown Formula 2 championship.

Denis says he has a second car on the way, which will be bigger and better than the first, but apart from that, he is reluctant to reveal any more details. So he can have an ace up his sleeve and surprise the opposition.

With a new car on the way, Denis might be looking for a buyer for his little giant killer and any prospective Jack Brabhams can break into the motor sport world for around, say — a mere $6500.

● Denis is pictured coming through the esses at a recent meeting at Calder Motor Raceway.

Thanks to friends

The Star this week received a letter from one of Altona's older residents, with some thanks she would like to pass on.

The letter, from Mr. A. E. Smith formerly of Civic Parade, Altona, read: "I would like to thank, through the Star all my friends for all the get well cards and letters which I have received since my stay in hospital. I have lived in Civic Parade, Altona since 1922 so you can see that I am well known."

At the moment Smith is in Ward 4 of the Repatriation General Hospital, Heidelberg.

He has been in hospital since February, and does not know when he'll be back.

BROKE DOOR TO STEAL MOWER

Terence Walter Howard, aged 20 of Lark Street, Altona, told Footscray Court last week he had broken a glass door in a lawn mower shop because he wanted to hear the burglar alarm ring.

Howard was before the court on charges of shop-breaking and entering with intent.

An industrial chemist of McArthur's Road, Altona North, Geoffrey William Mitchell-Moore, told the court he was in a nearby milk bar when he heard the sound of breaking glass.

Mitchell-Moore said he ran outside the shop and saw the glass framed door had been broken.

He said he ran to the shop, thinking someone may have hurt themselves falling through the glass.

Mitchell-Moore said that as he approached the shop a figure ran out of the doorway to a waiting car.

He said the motor in the car was running and the fugitive jumped into the passenger side seat.

Mitchell-Moore said the car drove off, but not before he had written down the registration number.

He said the glass plate in the door was broken in a spot where a person could get his hand to the door knob.

Detective Alan Graham, of Footscray CIB, told the court that he and Detective Glen Hyde had gone to a house in Lark Street, Altona, at six in the morning.

He said that a light-colored Holden with the same registration number as reported by Mitchell-Moore was seen in the driveway.

He said he questioned the defendant in connection with an attempt to steal a lawn mower from a shop in Millers Road.

Graham said the defendant told him: "Yes, I did the job. I was pretty full at the time."

Graham said he then took the defendant to Footscray police station, where he was interviewed at length.

He said that Howard admitted he was trying to "pinch" the lawnmower in order to sell it and get some money.

He said Howard then read a copy of the interview, agreed it was true and correct, and then refused to sign it.

Under cross-examination, Graham insisted he was told by Howard that he intended to steal the lawnmower and sell it.

Also under cross-examination, Graham said Howard did not have time to shower or eat before he was taken to the police station.

When asked whether Howard looked bright at that hour of the morning, Graham replied: "He's the sort of person who doesn't look bright to me at any time."

Detective Hyde told the court he was present during the interview with Detective Graham, and everything reported by Graham was true and correct.

Under cross-examination he said Howard was not suffering from cuts or bruises after the interview.

Giving evidence on his own behalf, Howard insisted he had kicked in the plate glass simply because he wanted to hear the alarm ring.

He denied telling Graham he wanted to steal the lawnmower and sell it for money.

Council for Howard said the defendant was prepared to pay for the glass window.

The magistrate, Mr. H. Boarder SM, said he did not accept the defendant's evidence and found the charge proved.

He was told Howard was on a $500 good behavior bond on an earlier shop-breaking charge and had appeared before the county court for indecent assault and carnal knowledge.

Mr. Boarder fined Howard $150 and $28 costs. He said Howard would also be faced with answering to the $500 good behavior bond.

Town planning debate

How to create a community acceptable to all interests will be the theme of the next general meeting of the Williamstown Conservation and Planning Society on Friday, July 23 at the Mechanics Institute, Electro Street, Williamstown.

If you are interested in Williamstown's future, you're welcome to bring forward ideas.

Students from Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology, Williamstown councillors and historically minded people will be there to discuss town planning for the city. A wide diversity of opinion is expected to be debated.

A sub-committee has been formed to compile a periodic news-letter for the society.

The first edition has already been distributed to members, who will be advised about the deadline for items of interest at the meeting on Friday.

Poster win

Susan Rooney of Williamstown High School was declared unanimous winner of the Jaycees Poster competition on July 1.

Her poster depicted the Williamstown Botanical Gardens and she will share an Australia-wide trip, visiting historical sights with the other two winners.

The trip is sponsored by Ansett-Pioneer.

Second placegetter was Alvie Nicholas of Williamstown Girls' High School and Joan Girvan of Altona High School was third.

The girls both chose Altona Civic Offices as their theme.

Lorraine Duff of Altona High School and Karen Tester of Altona North High School were both commended on their work.

Good news for parents?

Parents in Williamstown won't find the next Christmas school holidays so long after all.

The National Fitness Council has approved Williamstown Council participating in a State-wide scheme.

Beginning from January 4, organisers will arrange games and hobbies for children every week day until January 21.

The scheme will operate between 9.15 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

The National Fitness Council will cover salaries for 1972, but Williamstown Council will be asked to pay $300 for equipment, $50 for publicity, $30 for cleaning, and $30 for sundry expenses.

Williamstown Council would first have to select a site, the National Fitness Council said.

Cr. E. G. Smith said Newport was the most central part of Williamstown and Newport football oval, on which little athletics had been held, could be the best site.

The need for buildings as well as a sport oval had to be considered and the matter should be referred to the public works committee, Cr. L. R. Hoffmann said.

Cr. P. T. Lalor said Newport was most central but other sites should be looked at, such as St. Andrew's Church ground, the Masonic Centre and the town hall.

It was agreed that the matter go to the public works committee.

OFFICERS WANTED

The Little Athletics Centre, which has been functioning now for two years is in trouble — they can't find enough officials — or a secretary.

The centre is hoping that a parent or a member of the public will step forward and fill the secretary's vacancy.

Records, and rankings are most important to the operation of the club.

The cross country from the lower You Yangs picnic grounds will start at 2 noon.

There will be two events, a 1000 metres handicap for girls and a 2000 metres for boys.

No Standing Trucks

Signs reading 'no standing any time' vehicles under 20 ft. excepted will be in Kyle Road, Altona soon.

The sign will be erected as a result of complaints by residents that truck trailers were being parked between the Blackshaws Road and Cyclamen Avenue, Kyle Avenue, disturbing the residents.

Truck trailers also damaged kerbing when they were driven to and from their parks.

KEY GAME IN NEXT SOCCER ROUND

On Saturday at Kims Reserve, Altona City will play the most important game since the club started seven years ago.

The stage is set with Ellwood two points clear of Altona at the top of Division 1.

The winner must surely take out the premiership.

Both teams are playing top class soccer.

Ellwood have a team of stars and just recently signed Pocock and Sunshine captain and linkman making them stronger than ever.

The Maroons know exactly what this game means — Promotion to the top league, every player will be keyed up and ready to do more than his best for a City which has given soccer every support.

Supporters of the club are giving the side great encouragement, win or lose, but a celebration is planned.

Last week's game at Dandenong was played in pouring rain, and the Maroons turned it on.

This was one game they didn't intend to let slip.

Altona players played as a team.

Eleven players all stars — a perfect combination of skill and determination.

Reid and Herman once again worked their double act, with Stevie finishing off the move by cracking home, goal number one.

Micevski nearly made it No. 2 as he blasted over the bar from 10 yards.

Altona's defence stayed on top of Dandy's forward line.

Dandy's are a good side, yet never did Altona appear in any trouble.

Hynes, Gopley, and Murray gave nothing away and Jim Bayliss cleared his lines first time.

Keene and the Blond bomber, Alex Straubinger moved up behind the forwards a lot quicker than in the past and made one good possibility.

Keam swept home a squared pass after good work by Forghaus, Reid and Micevski.

Straubinger almost got his maiden goal as the 16-year-old ran on to a good pass by Micevski, however, Alex hesitated just a fraction and the ball wasn't there any more.

These "babes" in the Altona side learn quickly and Alex won't let any chances go a begging next time.

The Maroons made it three nil when Micevski finished of good work by tricking the full-back and unleashing his right boot drive for into the corner of the net.

Mickey has gained confidence and more goals are going to come his way.

Landy got a consolation goal when the Altona defence stood flat footed as a high ball from a free kick saw the centre-forward the only one to jump and head the ball past a bewildered Vanderpole.

Harry, Sutherland will have a few words to say to players at training about that one.

Altona kept up a constant pressure.

Herman and Micevski made a hole down the left, and any of three players could have scored.

Unselfish play by the Maroons saw the ball go to Reid who had no trouble to side foot home goal number four.

Ian almost made it five, going at top speed he chipped the ball over the keepers head only to see it hit the crossbar.

Players, of both sides got tired towards the end leaving Altona well ahead. The Res. XI had hard opposition from a good Dandy side.

Play was of a very high standard.

King, Kerr and Brian Healy, who has returned from his honeymoon, played well together giving Altona victory 2-1.

King and Healy notching the goals.

Will this side go thru the season undefeated?

The way Collins, Elthum and Pellamyn are playing it will take a good side to beat them.

Members don't forget there is $50 for the best club song entries handed in at the Club rooms.

Table tennis teams win three titles

By Ray Blythman

Altona junior players won three titles at the Western Suburbs championships held at the WSTTA Centre, Williamstown, last week.

In the junior singles Paul Morris defeated Brooklyn Youth Club's John Zgudka in straight sets 21-12, 21-16.

Paul's greater experience was a telling factor, enabling him to hit through his opponents defence, and dictate the game.

Paul combined with M. Groen in the junior doubles final against Joe Reece and John Zgudka and lost 16-21, 21-19, 19-21 in a thrilling match.

Reece and Zgudka combined a little better than their opponents to win the first game, but lost the second narrowly.

Morris Green lifted their game with better teamwork and less errors.

The final game was a neck and neck struggle all the way with Reece-Zgudka holding a slight advantage to win a great final game 21-19.

Joe Reece the aggregate leader in D1 grade was a clear favorite to win the D grade final against team mate Trevor Jones.

Jones turned the tables to win this final 16-21, 21-19, 22-20 after being down 9-16 in the third. He pulled out some winning shots to level at 20 all and then win the next 2 points to clinch the title.

NEWPORT METHS.

Newport Methodists were narrowly defeated by Croxton Methodists in a low scoring match last Saturday.

Newport could not handle the very wet conditions and never at any stage produced any real teamwork in a very disappointing performance.

Newport Methodists 8.7 (55). Croxton Methodists 8.10 (58).

Goals: Dimond 2, Stirling, Johnson, Seers, Angourias, Donne, Spicer, 1.

Best: Self, Dimond, Currie, Rowe, C. Stirling.

This week's match is at home against Flemington United.

Coaching clinic for students

Pupils between the ages of 10 and 18 can take advantage of a coaching clinic being held at the Melbourne University, during the August vacation. The clinic will be directed by Mr. Franz Stampf and will run over three days: August 30, August 31, and September 1.

Mr. Stampf will be assisted by leading Victorian and university athletes and coaches including Olympic and Commonwealth representatives.

Cost will be $3 and about 200 to 300 girls and the same number of boys can be coached.

Periods will be from 9.45 a.m. to noon for the girls and from 1.45 p.m. to 4 p.m. for the boys.

The clinic will enable schoolchildren to get professional training, knowledge and skills in the various track and field events in which they compete in their school sports, little athletics and club competitions.

Those interested should forward name and fee to the Adviser of Athletics, University of Melbourne, Parkville.

Ted Allsopp 2nd

Competing over 20,000 metres at Albert Park last Saturday in pouring rain, Ted Allsopp finished second to fellow Olympian Bob Gardiner.

Brilliant junior walker, Russell Miller, of Kew, was third.

Ted clocked a satisfying 99 min. 6 sec.

The girls' event was decided over 3000 metres and Jenny Hurwood produced her usual consistent form to finish seventh in 18 min. 7 sec.

Next Saturday, the men compete over 30,000 metres at University track, starting time 9 a.m.

The girls compete for the 3000 metres road championship of Victoria at Albert Park Lake.

Race to commence at 2 p.m.

Real estate market up

Real Estate monthly sales figures of $7½ million were achieved during the financial year ended on June 30, the president of the Real Estate and Stock Institute, Mr. E. Callaghan said yesterday.

"This figure reveals an increase of 15.8 per cent. over the previous year, representing additional sales to the value of $13,855,641," he said.

The average price per property rose from $13,997 to $14,641, Mr. Callaghan said.

Junior soccer results

In round three of the Altona Primary Schools Soccer League Altona North defeated St. Mary's, Altona East defeated Brooklyn, Altona West defeated Brooklyn and Seaholme defeated Altona.

In the first game of the day Altona North 6 easily defeated St. Mary's nil.

Experience was the key, and Altona kept the pressure on St. Mary's for the full sixty minutes.

An outstanding feature of the game was the courageous Rafferty, St. Mary's goalkeeper who tried hard to blunt Altona's attack.

In the second game Altona East 12 gave Brooklyn West a real thrashing, when Brooklyn failed to score.

Tactics and strength, a good forward line and defence stopped Brooklyn in their tracks.

They didn't look like scoring the whole game.

Full marks to Brooklyn, they tried hard throughout the game.

In the third game Altona West defeated Brooklyn 8-1.

It wasn't an easy game for either side. Rogers for Altona West played well and scored six goals, setting up another two.

West upset Brooklyn early scoring three quick goals.

Brooklyn seemed to lose their team up forward with West's backline on their hammer.

Seaholme 4 defeated

Altona nil in their game, the last 10 minutes of play, and nearly succeeded in scoring off Brownling, who missed from in close.

Next week will be the Education Week Knockout Competition.

Trophies and Medals have been donated by H. and K. Kim.
